Alpe d'Huez:

LeMond Racing Cycles was a bicycle manufacturer founded by Greg LeMond, an American winner of the Tour de France. LeMond offered geometry based on the racing frames he used in competition, which had a longer top tube and wheelbase in an otherwise traditional lightweight steel frame. This was to stretch out the rider on the bicycle, with the intent of both lowering the frontal area presented to the wind, and optimizing power and stability. From 1995 until February 2010 Trek licensed LeMond's name for use on a line of its bicycles, but this bike is a pre-Trek, 1990. The Alpe d'huez is a road bike, a cross bike, a TT bike, a beginner bike designed mostly for comfort and most of all this triple crank can climb!

Lemond Alpe D'Huez 52cm Reynolds 853 Steel road bike.

This is a classic Reynolds 853 steel tubing LeMond road bike. The drive train, brakes and Magnolo wheels are comparable to a modern Ultra
