What is Hosting?

Hosting entails inviting an international high school student to live in one's home and experience life in America with their family. STSF host families will offer a high school student the opportunity to study in an American high school, experience a new culture, building lifelong friendships, and develop language and leadership skills that will serve them throughout their lives.

How can you Host a Student?

There is no such thing as a "typical" STSF host family. Regardless of the location of a family's residence or the size of their family, they are invited to host an STSF international student. In the past, host families have included:

- Two parent families with young or school aged children
- Single parent families with or without children
- Empty nesters with grown children
- Young couples without children

Host Family Responsibilities

An STSF host family is responsible for providing a safe, warm and welcoming environment for their international student for a full academic year or fall semester. This includes providing a private or shared bedroom (with or without a sibling of the same gender), meals a day, and necessary transportation.
